U.S. Patent Application No. 10/528,167
Filed: April 5, 2005
Group Art Unit: 1761
Confirmation No.: 2645
Attorney Docket No.: 7393/84301

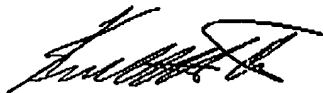

Dear Sir:

Applicants' legal representative renews the Request of July 7, 2006, to have this application re-published to correct a PTO error. As noted in the July 7, 2006 Request, the Patent Office published this application with claims having nothing to do with Applicants' invention. As the Patent Office has been previously advised, it published U.S. Application US2006/0134309 A1 with claims 1-33 directed to a free-fall simulator. However, Applicants are not claiming any free-fall simulator, but they are claiming an invention related to a composition for replacing milk powder.

It is now November 2006, and the favor of a response to the July 7, 2006 Request would be appreciated by Applicants (and their Assignee).

It is not seen that any further fees are required from Applicants to pay for correcting a PTO error.

Respectfully submitted,

Kendrew H. Colton
